

Training Opportunities – Fee Schedule

The CBC Training Institute provides a variety of services and trainings for professionals/organizations helping bereaved families. Please feel free to share this information with others whom you feel might benefit from our programs. The following are just a few of the topics available through our trainings:

- Basic principles for responding to children/families dealing with loss (Communication/support)
- Continuum of Care Issues Bridging Palliative issues, Preparation for loss, After Loss Care, and Referral Resources
- Developmental Issues, Attachment Theory and Bereavement (Child vs. Adult Grief Response)
- Family System Changes (Post Loss)
- Do's and Don'ts for professionals
- Staff Care Issues (Vicarious trauma and Caregiver burnout)
- Administrative Issues (Loss Protocol Development for organizations/institutions)

Training Goal: Increased awareness and ability of Organization/Agency Staff to assist children and family systems with issues related to bereavement, consistency of care, referral resources, and needs for advocacy following a loss.

Format: Full Day or Half Day Training available
Potential for regularly scheduled trainings (repeated for large staff groups or scheduled on rotation), follow-up, and development of referral protocols

The fee schedule for trainings is as follows:

- Full Day (9:00am-4:30pm) -----$1,800.00
(Includes Training by CBC Bereavement Specialist & 1hr.pre-training needs assessment conducted with key personnel to customize training content)
- Half day (9:00am-12:30pm) -----$1,000.00
- Telephone Consultation (1hr. min.) -----$100.00
- On-site Consultation Hourly (2hr. min.) ---$250.00
- Multi-organization Seminars (planning for 2017) – Individual fee schedules
 - CEU Credits may be available upon request for an additional (at cost) fee

CBC trainings focus on individual/staff ability to identify ways to support those who have experienced loss. Upon the completion of these trainings you and your organization's staff will be better equipped to handle the grief and bereavement needs of your clients/families. Those participating in training will become more able to identify their own grief responses and to explore how bereavement care is impacted by professional boundaries. Provision of these trainings will result in enhanced skills and resources which in turn provide better and richer services to the population and communities you serve.

We look forward to speaking with you soon so that we can schedule for this training, and hope that we can collaborate in your efforts to provide for our community.
